

The diagram illustrates a client system architecture. It consists of a large outer rectangle labeled 'client' with a dashed border. Inside this rectangle is a smaller rectangle with a solid border, which contains two components: 'evaluation' and 'analysis'. The 'evaluation' component is further enclosed in a small rectangle with a solid border.

client

evaluation

analysis